We want every lady to know—Sachs' Dry Goods Co. will not offer a bargain unless it is a bargain. That is the true mission of the advertisement, and you will find it faithfully carried out at our store.

BLOW AT THE "KARTEL"

NEW SCHEME TO SOLVE CUBAN SUGAR QUESTION

Raise Countervailing Duty on German and Austrian Sugar—Now Being Considered by Secretary of Treasury.

Washington, Feb. 2.—International interest will doubtless be manifested in the discussion of the subject of Cuban reciprocity between the advocates of a reduction of duty on Cuban sugar and tobacco on the one hand and those who prefer to relieve any distress which may exist in the island on the other, for, aside from the fact that stimulation of sugar production in Cuba would be a blow at domestic sugar beet and cane growers, it would materially affect German and Austrian sugar exporters, who now supply our markets to a considerable extent.

A new proposition has been presented to the President, which he promised should have careful consideration, namely, to advance the countervailing duty on sugar from Austria and Germany forty points. It is argued that through the cartel system in vogue in both countries the producers in Austria and Germany derive an indirect bounty of .40 of a cent per pound in addition to the Government bounty of .27 per pound. The proposition is that the President, through the Secretary of the Treasury, shall advance the countervailing duty now in force against these sugars from .27 of a cent per pound to .67 per pound. In support of this proposal it is argued that this action would afford additional protection to Cuban planters and give them all the relief they need, and have the additional advantage of stimulating the domestic production of cane and beet sugar. A careful presentation was made to the President of the subject by a representative of both the beet and cane interests, and he promised it should be referred to Secretary Shaw for his consideration. This has been done and Secretary Shaw will doubtless communicate his findings to the President.

No action along this line will be taken until after exhaustive research, for it would involve the commercial relations existing between this country and Germany and Austria, which countries would be more than likely to resent any further imposition of countervailing duty. Nor is the proposition favorably considered by refiners in the United States who are advocating free Cuban sugar, for it would increase the duty on raw sugar without affecting that on refined sugar to any extent, a state of affairs the sugar refiners wish to avoid, for, as the president of the National Refining Company admitted in advocating a reduction before the Ways and Means Committee, it is their desire to depress the price of raw sugar as much as possible and keep the price of refined where it is now, thus increasing their profits by pocketing the difference. It is, therefore, expected that the advocates of a reduction in the tariff will be as strenuous in their opposition to the countervailing duty proposition as they have been in support of their contention that Cuban sugar should come in free.

Should Austrian and German interests be drawn into the dispute further than they are now it would additionally complicate the situation. On paper the imposition of a countervailing duty of forty points additional against German and Austrian sugars amounts to the same as a 25 per cent reduction on the duty of 1.67 on Cuban sugar, thus meeting the President's wishes as to the percentage of benefit necessary. Whether it would be the same in practice or not would remain to be seen. The meat of the matter is that reciprocity would be a reduction in the tariff, while the other proposition means protection for Cuban sugar producers by imposing a tariff upon their competitors.

The interview between the President and Speaker Henderson and Representative Dalzell yesterday, it can be said on good authority, was pleasant, but no conclusions were reached. President Roosevelt did not take the others to task for not agreeing with his views, as he probably recognized they were entitled to their own. He said his conviction remained the same, that a 25 per cent reduction in the tariff was necessary to place Cuba on a higher road to commercial prosperity. Henderson and Dalzell informed him they had made a careful study of the situation as presented to the Ways and Means Committee by representatives of both sides, and, to their minds, there existed no reason why Cuba should be assisted at the expense of United States sugar and tobacco growers. They told the President they thought the action contemplated might cost the Republican party the House, and while they were only willing and anxious to join forces with him in relieving Cuban distress of any character, they hoped it could be done without endangering the political welfare of the Republican party.

The three separated without any conclusions being reached, but it is more than probable that the subject will be discussed at the Republican caucus Monday night. This, while called for the purpose of discussing the advisability of taking up the consideration of the election laws in the Southern States, was also called "for other purposes."

The hearings before the Ways and Means Committee will be printed early next week and the committee will set down to the consideration and discussion of the evidence presented. It is scarcely possible a conclusion will be reached for three weeks at the earliest. If it should be favorable to Cuban reciprocity on the lines of a reduction in the tariff, a bill will be reported from the committee. Should it be adverse no report will be necessary, as no bill is before the committee. Should the President accept the countervailing duty proposition, no legislation on the subject is necessary, as the Secretary of the Treasury can issue the order, as was done in the case of the Russian sugar bounties.

FARMERS' DANCE.

Pacific Rebekah Lodge, No. 1, I. O. O. E., had a very successful time at the Farmers' dance in Progress Hall last night. Dancing was the feature of the entertainment. There were about 300 people present. The hall was decorated with sugar cane. Near the musicians' platform was a large stack of hay, a wheelbarrow, rakes and other farm implements. There were two large lemonade jars in a corner room opposite the musicians' platform. In another room more refreshments were served. The grand march began at 8:30 o'clock and was led by Mr. and Mrs. Small.

PITY FOR CALIFORNIA

FIVE DROUGHTY YEARS DEPRESS FRUIT GROWERS

Experience of a Viticulturist in the Garden of Southern California
--- Procession of Bad Crops.

"Well, I suppose it will do good. It is a pity California could not have some of it."

Such were the remarks with which Mr. Braseh, a former viticulturist of Southern California, greeted the advent of yesterday's kona storm as he sat down at Nolte's for lunch.

"Yes," he continued in answer to a question, "California has been dry for five years now. It is unusual, the statistics previous to this period having created an expectation of scarcely more than one year of drought out of twenty years."

The last year of rain was 1897, when the fruit crop was unusually good. I had forty acres of the finest land in the Santa Clara valley. That year I raised 37½ tons of grapes, which yielded 40,000 gallons of wine. In 1899 my crop dwindled to 40 tons, in 1899 to 15 tons and in 1900 to five tons. This was enough of the business for me. The 1897 crop was an extraordinary one, as the average yield in favorable years was four tons of grapes to the acre."

Mr. Braseh had lived in Southern California for 26 years. He gave up a lucrative position in the San Jose brewery to engage in viticulture. At present he is engaged in supervising the erection of a malthouse for the Honolulu brewery, having come here about five months ago. His experience in California as just related will remind readers of the Bulletin of what a leading financier said in an anonymous interview a few weeks ago.

"I do not know that our prospects are so very gloomy," said this authority; "for my part I should still prefer sugar in Hawaii to fruit in California."

A CONTESTED GAME

There will be two games of Association football played on the Makiki grounds this afternoon. The Junior Association Football League will have its first game, starting at 3:45 o'clock p. m. sharp. It will be between the Malle-Himas and the Punahou team, with the following line-up:

Malle-Himas—Goal, Ludwigen; backs, Erlich, H. Nott; forwards, Osborne, H. Bailey, F. Dodge.
Punahou—Goal, Gilman; backs, Magoon, Dreier; forwards, Dowsett, Andrews, S. Dodge.

The senior game will be between the Honolulu and the Malle-Himas, beginning at 4:15 o'clock. This match was played in the early part of this year, the Malle-Himas winning one goal. The game was protested, however, as the Malle-Himas had played an ineligible man and it was decided that it should be played over again. The line-up will be as follows:

Honolulu—Goal, Andrews; backs, Gleason, Harvey; halves, Parish, Kay, M. Anderson; forwards, McWhirter, Glass, Gaudie, Hiltz, Fiddes.
Malle-Himas—Goal, Fenwick; backs, R. Anderson, McGill; halves, Craik, Brown, J. Anderson; forwards, Munro, Lansdale, Boyle, Cummings, Bolster.
